INDIA AND US EXPLORE OUT-OF-COURT RESOLUTION FOR TRADE DISPUTES AT WTO DURING PM MODI'S ONGOING US VISIT

India and the US are reportedly discussing an out-of-court resolution for seven trade disputes at the World Trade Organisation (WTO) during the ongoing state visit of Prime Minister Narendra Modi to the United States.

The discussions are at an advanced stage and a resolution may be reached soon, citing Commerce Ministry sources. During his three-day state visit to the US that began from Tuesday, Prime Minister Narendra Modi is expected to discuss various strategic issues, particularly on trade between the two countries.

As the WTO's appellate body for settlement of disputes remains dysfunctional with the US blocking the appointment of judges, an out-of-court settlement over disputes is the only option right now.

The WTO has said that the US has systemic concerns about the appeals court. In recent years, the US and India have disagreed on trade, including the US imposing steep steel and aluminum tariffs in 2018. India's export subsidy programmes, such as the Export-oriented Units Scheme and sector-specific schemes, have also caused tension between the two nations.

GLOBAL TRADE SEES POSITIVE GROWTH IN Q1 BUT FACES HEADWINDS

Global trade growth was positive for goods in the first quarter of 2023, according to a report by United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD). This follows a downturn in the second half of 2022, with world merchandise trade showing a rebound in both volume and value.

Trade in goods increased by 1.9 per cent from the last quarter of 2022, contributing approximately $100 billion. However, UNCTAD's nowcast for the second quarter of 2023 suggests a deceleration in global trade growth due to factors such as persistent inflation, financial vulnerabilities, the war in Ukraine, geopolitical tensions, and recently downgraded world economic forecasts. Despite fluctuations in global trade, the geographical proximity of international trade has remained relatively stable over the last five quarters, implying no significant trends in nearshoring or farshoring. Interestingly, a rising trend in 'friend-shoring' has been noted since late 2022, US-China trade interdependence, and the impacts of Brexit played significant roles in shaping key bilateral trade trends. Specifically, the report highlighted a decline in trade interdependence between the US and China over the past year and a half, with the US becoming a less significant export market for China,

DOES INDIA'S FOREIGN TRADE POLICY 2023 ADDRESS ITS EXPORT FRAGILITY?

*Industry
news*

FTP 2023 had the opportunity to align itself with India's socio-economic reality and the developmental priorities. Starting with a positive trade surplus in the non-oil merchandise sector in early 2000s, India's non-oil trade deficit had ballooned to around $100 billion in 2021-22.

The effect of rising imports in this category could have been offset, had there been higher levels of exports and successive growth. The fact is that the growth of the Indian exports had drastically dropped from annual 3 years moving average of 18 per cent in the period 2000-2011 to 2.4 per cent in 2012-2018—well before the Covid-19 pandemic. In contrast, both levels and growth of the Indian imports have been higher, about 23 per cent in the period 2000-2011, and fallen thereafter along with India's exports.

The poor performance of exports cannot be overlooked as a temporary phenomenon. One needs to look at the foundational economic limitations which warrant much needed policy attention. For any policy to be able to successfully address these limitations, it needs to acknowledge the fact that India's exports have been subdued in the last decade. While India has been import-dependent for meeting its crude oil requirements, the data shows an overdependence on imports for commodities which could be developed and produced domestically. Due to this, India has been stuck in a permanent tide of trade deficit since 2004 in non-oil trade category.

Not only has India not been able to cut reliance on imports for non-oil commodities, but the country is also not in the position to capitalise the high-tech manufacturing companies those are looking for diversifying their production base from China with rising geopolitical tensions.
